Appearance

- Deep chunky crumpets, with a slightly domed, puffy appearance, which gave them a 'home-made' character
- They were well aerated and moist throughout, and had a golden toasted surface
- More interesting than the standard crumpets

Flavour

- There was a mild toasted odour
- The flavour was fresh and quite rich with a light sweetness and mild balanced salt
- The even toasted notes added to the overall flavour

Texture

- The tops and sides had a lightly toasted crispness, with a slightly softer base
- The crumb was deep, well risen and moist to eat, with a tender, easy breakdown
- The deep aerated pockets would be excellent for absorbing plenty of butter

Overall

- Deep chunky crumpets, with a rustic and well toasted appearance. The flavour was fresh and balanced, with some richness, and the texture was a good combination of crispness and moistness
